

Read In Week 2011

Reading: All Ages, All Stages

Adult Booklist

Anderson-Dargatz, Gail. The Stalker. Good Reads, 2010.

Books can wrap you up in a mystery and keep you guessing until the end. The Stalker is a mysterious tale about a dangerous trip.

DiCamillo, Kate. The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane. Candlewick Press, 2006.

Books can take you on a journey. Join Edward Tulane as he journeys all over the world, wondering if he will ever get back home again. This is a great book to read out loud with children or to listen to as an audio book.

Guinness World Records. Guinness World Records, 2011.

Books can help you learn weird and cool facts. There are so many world records in here; you'll be amazed by some of the stuff that people can do!

Kendris, Christopher and Theodore Kendris. 501 Spanish Verbs. Barron's, 2010.

Books can help you to learn a new language. There are lots of books and CDs to help you learn vocabulary, verbs, and common phrases.

Klein, Jennifer and Wen Kauffman. Adventures of Edmonton: Your ABC Guide. Capestang Press, 2010.

Books can help you learn about great places to visit in your city. Adventures of Edmonton has lots of pictures of places to see in town!

Murkoff, Heidi and Sharon Mazel. What To Expect When You're Expecting. Workman Pub, 2008.

Books can help you get ready for a life change! What to Expect When You're Expecting has been a go-to pregnancy book for years.

Murphy, Judy. Living with Stress. Grass Roots Press, 2005.

Books can help you take care of yourself. Living with Stress has lots of tips for how to stay healthy.

Sacks, Oliver. Musicophilia: Tales of Music and the Brain. Alfred A. Knopf, 2007.

Books can help you to make sense of your body. Musicophilia takes a look at how music and the brain interact with each other.

Sports Illustrated magazine

Books (and magazines) are great for keeping up with your hobbies and interests.

Vaz-Oxlade, Gail. Easy Money. Good Reads, 2010.

Books can help you plan your spending and your saving. Gail Vaz-Oxlade wrote Easy Money to get people thinking about how to save money and get out of debt.